

News

September 3, 2009

Everybody Needs A Nurse was invited to join the Senior Resource Alliance of the Triangle. A lot of people are really trying to improve life for seniors in central North Carolina.

July 3, 2009

Diane is in Durban, South Africa delivering a paper on Everybody Needs A Nurse at the International Conference of Nurses. Her husband, Ed Halloran, gave the keynote address. We keep this nursing stuff all in the family here at Everybody Needs A Nurse!

June 6, 2009

Diane and Jennifer had a great time at the UNC Wellness fair. We met a lot of active seniors and a lot of vendors trying to get their business.

August 8, 2008

Jennifer A. Halloran, PhD--Diane's daughter--has joined Everybody Needs A Nurse as director of operations. She comes from academia, after teaching at UNC and Duke, and is looking forward to helping Everybody Needs A Nurse become a success. Jennifer says, "I love working for a company that makes such a difference in people's lives and getting to work with my mom is just icing on the cake."